Welcome to Duke's Wood

This spectacular mosaic of woodland and other habitat types form part of Wellesley Woodlands. These woods have been used for military training for many years and trails have been created that wind through the woodlands, past retained military features such as the Wellington Monument and firing range walls. To the north of Duke's Wood, the Basingstoke Canal provides walkable links to Lake & Canal Side and the further reaches of Wellesley Woodlands.

There are six circular trails within Duke's Wood of various lengths. Chestnut Trail is the longest at 1.6km in length and Holly Trail is the shortest at 1km. Both Birch (1.5km) and Holly (1km) trails are wheelchair friendly, with surfaced paths, graded slopes and benches. Wellesley Willow Trail runs throughout Duke's Wood, leading onto Lake & Canal Side and in the future will connect all four sections of Wellesley Woodlands.

WELLESLEY WOODLANDS

This attractive area forms part of Wellesley and offers 110 hectares of interlinked woodlands, wildlife, canal-side walks and lakes. Delivered by Grainger, the woodlands are managed by the Land Trust, a national land management charity, along with the Blackwater Valley Countryside Partnership.
